A Courtesan's Day: Hour By Hour (Famous Japanese Print Series)

Synopsis

A courtesan's day in the carefree atmosphere of the famous pleasure quarter the Yoshiwara in Edo (present-day Tokyo) was carefully planned to an hourly schedule. This sequence of 12 and later 24 hours proved a convenient device for Japanese print artists and their publishers when devising sets of prints showing favourite beauties of the day engaged in daily activities. In this second volume of Hotei Publishing's Famous Japanese Prints Series, three sets centred on the theme of the hours of the clock in the pleasure quarters are discussed in detail: > Kitagawa Utamaro's "The Twelve Hours of the 'Green Houses'" ("Seir j nitoki," c. 1794) > Tsukioka Yoshitoshi's "Twenty-four Hours in Shinbashi and Yanagibashi" ("Shinry nij yoji," 1880-81) > Toyohara Kunichika's "Scenes of the Twenty-four Hours, A Pictorial Trope" ("Mitate ch ya nij yoji," 1890-91) A contextual and visual analysis of these works by the authors provides the reader with an insight into the broader cultural and artistic milieu of the early and later nineteenth century."

Customer Reviews

I'm a bit obsessed with geisha, I admit, but I would love this book anyway. It offers not only incredibly beautiful images, but also great details of everyday life like the geisha drinking straight from the teapot or the one nursing her baby. Really, it's worth it for the kimono fashions alone!
